

Bangkok Accord

Engineering Council of India, the Apex Federation of 32 Indian Professional Engineering Institutions / Associations representing all engineering streams in India, was created in 2002 to oversee the development of engineering profession in India. In continuation of its mandate, it has now entered into an agreement on 22nd September, 2016 at Bangkok, called Bangkok Accord, with the representatives from Bangladesh, China, Sri Lanka, Malaysia, Singapore and Hong Kong Special Administrative Region, to create and develop an Asian Register of Professional Engineers to facilitate Cross Country Operations. The Indian side was ably represented by Dr Niranjana Swarup, Er S. Ratnavel and Er M.V. Dehadrai. A procedure on similar lines that of ECI in India shall be created so that the engineers are empowered to become capable and competent to work in an Asian country of their choice.
